

Tavernes is beautiful.

C'est vrai, oui, oui, ist sehr schön!

Bem-vindos à nossa cidade,
y disfrutad de cada rincón!

Our village, such a precious treasure,
honored and awarded with great measure.

Places full of history, a welcoming town,
with traditions and culture that never let you down.

But respect nature and the paths we tread,
leave no trace, just good friends instead.

Go for what's real and strong in might,
for progress that's both sustainable and right.

If you've got furry friends and want to explore,
you can bring them here, there's so much to adore!

Pack a bag, water and leash in hand,
and head to the mountains, it's all so grand.

Tavernes is pet-friendly, yes, it's true,
but with common sense, that's key too.

We don't want surprises, if you please,
nor fragrant gifts left on the streets.

The first scene of our Fallas monument depicts a woman walking her dog and symbolises the city commitment to animal welfare. With numerous routes and trails, Tavernes is an idyllic place to enjoy outdoor walks with your pets.

Together we make a city that is more respectful and committed to our four-legged friends!

Our city has associations dedicated to the protection and care of animals, such as the Asociación Animalista Tavernes, which works tirelessly to rescue and adopt abandoned animals. In addition, the city's Council, in collaboration with volunteers, has installed cat shelters in different areas in order to control and protect cat colonies. The Local Police in Tavernes de la Valldigna also has an Animal Welfare Unit, in charge of the rescue and protection of animals in risk.

This collective commitment reflects the spirit of solidarity and responsibility of our community towards animals.

#TurismeTavernesValldigna

Animal welfare is directly linked to values such as sustainability, social responsibility and coexistence, values that connect to a number of SDGs.

SDG 11 - Sustainable cities and communities

In Tavernes we are working to be a more animal and environmentally friendly city. The numerous routes and trails available favour a harmonious coexistence between people, pets and nature, promoting a more sustainable and inclusive urban and natural space.

SDG 12 - Responsible consumption and production

Our commitment to animal protection also involves promoting responsible actions, such as the rescue and adoption of abandoned animals. Through the Asociación Animalista Tavernes and other initiatives, we promote responsible animal ownership and reduce the abandonment of animals.

SDG 15 - Life on land

The protection and control of cat colonies, as well as the creation of cat shelters, contribute to the ecological balance of our environment. Furthermore, the existence of an Animal Welfare Unit in the Local Police reinforces this commitment to biodiversity and the protection of urban fauna.

In Tavernes, animal welfare is not only a responsibility, but a value that defines us as a town.

Together we achieve a more respectful and sustainable environment for everyone!

The food here is such a delight:
paellas, stews, and hearty bites;
traditional desserts and 'coques de mestall',
Thursday's market lunch served with pride.

While some waste food without care, others go hungry, their plates bare.

Let's stay aware, don't let it slide,
for the empty plate is crying, with no place to hide.

The second scene of our Fallas monument represents a butler, a figure that takes us back to past times, when they were in charge of serving the lords. This image is related to one of the great attractions of our municipality: gastronomic tourism. In Tavernes, when we go for lunch or dinner we enjoy an attentive service that makes us feel like real guests.

Our gastronomy is a jewel to be discovered. From the traditional esmorzaret, always accompanied by a good cremaet, to the most typical dishes of our land: l'arròs al forn, l'arròs amb pebre, les coques de mestall, etc., without forgetting sweets such as arnadí or coca cristina. Tavernes offers a unique experience for lovers of good food, where tradition and quality are found in every dish.

Moreover, many of our restaurants have been awarded prizes in different gastronomic competitions in which the best rice and other typical dishes have been awarded, and even the excellence in the esmorzaret culture, with awards such as the Cacau d'Or Prize. In Tavernes, eating well is not just a pleasure, it is a tradition.

Tavernes, authentic flavour between sea and mountains!

#TurismeTavernesValldigna

Beyond the pleasure of enjoying a good meal, gastronomy is directly related to values such as sustainability, inclusion and solidarity, values that are closely linked to several SDGs.

Every March, the real party returns, with an art that crosses borders and burns.

Satire, colours, and flames so bright,
make Valencia unique, a wondrous sight.

As firecrackers crack and the Cremà ignites, rising smoke makes us ponder pollution's plight.
What if we go back to wood and cardboard's glow,
for safer, eco-friendly Fallas to show?

Experience the magic of Fallas with emotion, tradition and a good atmosphere.

The following scene transports us to another era, where an elegantly dressed woman, with her hair perfectly combed, sits on a trunk, as if she were enjoying a show. Her image reminds us of a figure from another era, with a sumptuous dress and a refined presence. This style can be compared to the traditional dress of falleras, who, although belonging to another time and context, share with her the elegance, sophistication and detail in every piece of clothing and hairstyle.

Fallas are much more than four days of festivities; they are culture and tradition, as well as the economic engine of our city. In Tavernes, and especially in Falla Passeig, we live Fallas with intensity throughout the year. Events such as la exaltació, la cavalcada del ninot, el mig any and la plantà not only fill the streets with colour and emotion, but also boost local commerce and activity.

Fallas monuments, authentic works of ephemeral art, are the purest expression of creativity and popular culture, turning every corner of the city into an open-air museum. March is one of the best times to visit Tavernes, as the streets are full of life, music and fraternity. Falleros and falleras are open and welcoming people, always ready to share the celebrations with anyone who wants to experience them up close.

#TurismeTavernesValldigna

Beyond the festivity, Fallas are directly related to culture, tradition and economic development, values that we can associate with various SDGs.

Fallas monuments are an example of ephemeral and sustainable culture, made with recyclable and environmentally friendly materials. In addition, the festivity fosters coexistence and a sense of belonging to the community, creating spaces for meeting and social cohesion.

SDG 12 - Responsible consumption and production

Increasingly, Fallas are evolving towards a more environmentally friendly celebration, with a commitment to waste reduction and the use of ecological materials when making the monuments. Responsible consumption is also encouraged in clothing and gastronomy.

SDG 16 - Peace, justice and strong institutions

Fallas are a space for intercultural dialogue and encounter, where people from different backgrounds share the same passion for the festival. The bonding and collaboration between falleros and visitors helps to reinforce values such as coexistence, respect and social cohesion.

*In Tavernes, Fallas are much more than a festivity.
They are culture, identity and a driving force for sustainable growth.*

On our beach, with a gentle breeze,
golden sand and skies that please,
once you come, you'll want to stay,
to enjoy the summer by the bay.

On the beach, leave only footprints behind,
pick up plastics and the trash you find.

With civility and conscious care,
let's respect those living in the salty air.

The next scene of our Fallas monument immerses us in the seabed, where we find an octopus surrounded by corals and colourful fish. This representation symbolises our beach and everything it offers as a tourist destination.
